PH to import rice, but gov't may not have to pay for it

By Eduardo L. Salas

MANILA, Jan. 13 (AP) — The Philippines is set to import rice from the United States, but the government may not have to pay for it, according to a report from the U.S. Trade Representative's office. The report, which was released on Jan. 12, says that the Philippines has agreed to a "temporary" arrangement with the U.S. to allow for the importation of rice without the usual payment. The arrangement is part of a larger trade agreement between the two countries, which is expected to be finalized in the coming months. The report also mentions that the Philippines is facing a rice shortage due to a combination of factors, including a decline in domestic production and a surge in demand. The U.S. Trade Representative's office is currently negotiating the details of the arrangement with the Philippine government.

China's Hu tells Navy: Prepare for war

Beijing (AP) — Chinese President Hu Jintao told the Chinese Navy to prepare for war in a speech to the National People's Congress on Tuesday, a day after the U.S. Navy's aircraft carrier USS George Washington sailed into the South China Sea.

Hu said the U.S. carrier's presence in the South China Sea was a "serious challenge" to China's territorial sovereignty and that China's navy must be ready to "safeguard" its interests.

The speech came as the U.S. Navy's USS George Washington sailed into the South China Sea, a move that has drawn criticism from China. The U.S. Navy said the carrier was on a routine visit to the region.

China's navy has been expanding its capabilities in recent years, and Hu's speech is seen as a signal that China is preparing for a potential conflict with the United States.

Occupy protest targets home foreclosures

Protesters in Los Angeles on Tuesday targeted home foreclosures as part of an Occupy Wall Street demonstration. The group, which includes members of the Occupy Wall Street movement, gathered in front of a large, modern building and held signs that read "Occupy Wall Street" and "Occupy Home Foreclosures."

The protesters were demanding that the government take action to stop the foreclosure crisis and protect homeowners. They also called for the government to provide financial assistance to struggling families.

The demonstration was part of a larger Occupy Wall Street movement that has spread across the United States. The movement is focused on issues such as income inequality, corporate greed, and the power of the financial industry.

The protesters in Los Angeles were met with police officers who tried to clear the area. However, the protesters remained in front of the building and continued their demonstration.
